About Jennifer

Jennifer Jimenez was born in Florida, but spent much of her childhood in Venezuela. She currently resides in Tampa Bay, Florida where she is extremely active in her church's youth program, Relentless Youth. Jennifer began singing with her family and in church at a very young age. However, her love for music blossomed when she began being bullied by her peers. Music created a solace for Jennifer in which she could escape the negativity of the outside world. This passion for music led her to join her school's chorus program as well as show choir. She has since had the opportunity to perform in front of the White House. As a solo act, she has performed at weddings, school talent shows, birthday parties, the American Idol experience, and America's Got Talent. When it comes to music, Jennifer not only sings but also plays the piano and guitar.

Jennifer knew that singing and recording was something that God called her to do. "I've always loved singing for the Lord, and I am excited to share my passion with the world" says Jennifer. "Every song has an important story behind it and God helped me incorporate what he's done for me in each one. So hopefully you will hear the same when listening to it." Jennifer's album, Relentless, is officially available March 2nd online at all major music stores worldwide.
